Why vitamins and minerals are essential for us?

Vitamins are nutrients absolutely essential for the proper function of our body. Continuous scientific studies constantly substantiate the necessity of all vitamins at adequate quantities. Vitamins help the metabolism, contributing to good health, reproduction, growth and maintenance of good fitness. Most vitamins cannot be synthesized in the human body and are obtained through food. They do not have any calories or any energy value by themselves. Minerals, like vitamins, are essential components for the proper function of our body. They constitute 4 - 5% of our body weight. Inhered in the bones, teeth, and are important components of muscles, nerve cells, hormones, enzymes and blood. Deficiency of vitamins and minerals in our body, even in small amounts, may lead sooner or later, to health disorders.

Why do we need a complete nutritional supplement?

The maintenance of good health requires adequate and balanced nutrition that depends on the right choice and correct combination of food. Food supplements provide our bodies with vitamins and minerals, that for different reasons we do not get from our diet.

Usually the reasons are the following:

- Modern methods of cultivation, processing and conservation may contribute to the reduction of vitamins and minerals contained in food.

- It is very difficult to check the quality of meals prepared away from home (at the office, restaurant, ... etc).

- Sensitive vitamins are destroyed during cooking and storage.

CENTRUM® SILVER

CENTRUM® SILVER with Lutein contains 26 vitamins, minerals and trace elements, and now with Lutein, an antioxidant that helps maintaining healthy eyesight.

CENTRUM® SILVER with Lutein has a special balanced composition of vitamins and minerals in quantities, which according to scientific data, the modern people should receive daily to meet the changing nutritional needs.

With one CENTRUM® SILVER with Lutein tablet every day your body obtains a complete balance of vitamins and minerals, when for the above reasons is difficult to obtain them through your diet.

CENTRUM® SILVER contains the antioxidant nutrients

Scientific studies have proven that antioxidant nutrients (such as vitamins C, E, beta-carotene, Selenium and Lutein) are very important to our bodies. They protect cells from the damage that might depend on certain factors, such as poor diet, the exposure to the radiation of the sun, to exhausts and cigarette smoke. Recent scientific findings have increased scientific interest for future use of antioxidants to delay, as well as to prevent chronic diseases. CENTRUM® SILVER with Lutein formula helps supply the body with these important nutrients.
